Shevchenko: Ukraine’s Immortal Bard

FROM THE EPISDITE

Shevchenko, my brothers, as a brother,
Come, clasp your brothers to your heart.

And dry her tears without dowl.

She who all the days of old,
Shall not, were I to be told

That with these hands she can lead
Your children in these hands.

But to the touch of your toiled-hardened hands
And her tears without dowl.

Then all the days of all the days of old,
Shall not, were I to be told

That with these hands she can lead
Your children in these hands.

But to the touch of your toiled-hardened hands
And her tears without dowl.

The UCCA delegation, consisting of Mrs. V. Z. Zhirinovskaya, Chairman, and Dr. Walter Dubinsky, also member of the executive board, was to meet with the U.S. Ambassador to the U.S.S.R., Mr. John Scali, in advance, be presented to the White House and then meet with President Ford. Mrs. Zhirinovskaya, who traveled to the U.S. to promote the Jubilee-year drive, was to present her personal appeal to the President.

The separate memorandum, to be presented directly to the President, names of Plushch and Moroz and other Ukrainians, and overall situation in Ukraine. The delegation requested a personal audience with the President to present a letter of appeal to the President, signed by UCCA President John Czuprynski and Vice-President George M. Pesch. It was signed in person by Dr. Lev E. Dobriansky, executive board member.

The delegation also asked that Dr. Emil Nesterenko, a well-known Ukrainian political writer, be allowed to visit Ukraine to promote the Jubilee year drive, and that they be allowed to receive proper medical attention in the U.S.

NEW YORK, N.Y. — The U.S. Executive Council and the News and Information Service of the Ukrainian Congress Committee of America, also known as the American Ukrainians, are sponsoring a pre-convention drive.

The purpose of the pre-convention, which is being conducted in conjunction with the American Ukrainian Congress, is to raise the total number of UCCA members by April 30, 1974, in line with the UCCA’sooth of membership. The organization is sponsoring a pre-convention drive to raise the total number of UCCA members by April 30, 1974, which is the deadline for the UCCA’sooth of membership.

The UCCA’sooth of membership is currently at 900,000. To achieve this goal, the organization is seeking to increase its membership by 100,000 by April 30, 1974.

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The American Psychiatric Association has received a letter signed by 247 psychiatrists from the United States and 25 other nations condemning the Soviet Union for the treatment of dissidents. The letter, addressed to U.S. President Richard Nixon, was encouraged by the organization of President Alfred Freedman.

The letter, which had been circulating among psychiatrists for some time, was signed by the president of the American Psychiatric Association, Dr. James E. Bond, and 246 other members of the association. The letter was then sent to President Nixon, who has been pressured to take action against the Soviet Union for its treatment of dissidents.

The letter states that the Soviet Union has violated the human rights of dissidents and that their treatment is an affront to the United Nations. The letter also states that the Soviet Union has violated the rights of its own citizens and that its treatment of dissidents is a violation of international law.

The letter concludes by stating that the Soviet Union must be held accountable for its actions and that President Nixon must take action to stop the persecution of dissidents.

The letter was signed by representatives from 25 other countries, including France, Britain, Canada, and Germany.
