Stark Murals

The American and German-American Soccer League has been broken for over a year now. The families are not writing back. People have trouble with the organization.

No Planning

This phenomenon is particularly true of the three Ukrainian teams in the two leagues. The three clubs operate, let it be noted, off at least approximately the same level and with no viable planning being done in advance.

No checking

On any given Sunday after a loss, which is always surprising on this occasion, there follows the usual: "we did not train enough," or "we are expecting new and better players."

It is, of course, easy to preach from a chair behind hypepeter when things look much better, but if it is attempted to magnify this and in the name of so many others, the leadership should be prepared to stand a lot of preaching and criticism.

No person in his right mind expects our clubs to be at the winning and in athletic events it would be monstrous. The All-Ukrainian reported this in two small paragraphs under the heading "Yarmolenko fired!"

In a reply, Mr. Yarmolenko claims that he was not 'fired' and therefore was not replaced. Neither the American Soccer League nor Mr. Yarmolenko felt it necessary to explain why the Whitecaps wereReplace.
